Who has got the biggest shoe in the family? How many cm long is it?

How many pairs of socks have you got? How many socks is that?

Look at the labels in your clothes for a waist size, chest size or height. Measure yourself to check you have the right sized clothes.
Are any of your clothes symmetrical?

Which is longer: the legs of your trousers or the arms of your jumper? How much longer?

How many T-shirts do you have?
Sort them by colour. How many more blue T-shirts do you have than red?

Look at the labels in your clothes. Can you find out what temperature the water should be when your clothes are washed?

Shoes and clothes

Measure the zip on your jacket and an adult's jacket.
Which is longer?
How much longer?

What shapes can you see?
What shape is a cereal packet?
What shape is a tin of beans?

How many checkouts are being used? How many checkouts are not being used? How many are there altogether?

Estimate how many apples there are in the tray?

How many cartons of orange juice do you think there are on the shelf?

How many trolleys are there in the trolley park? How many different types of trolley are there?

How many different flavours of $\qquad$ can you see?
Which do you think is the most popular? (more have gone)

Look out for multipacks of items. How many tubes of Polos in 2 packs? How many packs of crisps in two big packs?

